Washington State Fair's newest venue.

The Agriplex, situated on the south end of the Washington State Fair Events Center is a modern take on a barn structure. The generous open floor plan will accommodate a variety of public and private functions all year round. Uses might include animal displays, auctions, receptions and trade and consumer shows.

The exterior of the venue details a barn architecture with large working barn doors, shutters, windows, warm wood, cooler concrete and corrugated metal. If you look closely you can see the names of all Washington State counties represented along the façade. Inside, a generous open plan allows for event space chaperoned by timber posts with trusses and iconic roof pitches.

AgriPlex is a venue that is respectful of the past, relevant for the present and excited for the future, all while celebrating the core values of the Washington State Fair – family and community.
